

University of Tulsa Institutional Learning Outcomes

Institutional Learning Outcome One: Demonstrate literacy through information inquiry and application of knowledge in the sciences, humanities, and arts.

Institutional Learning Outcome Two: Think critically by analyzing, synthesizing, and evaluating information.

Institutional Learning Outcome Three: Write and present clearly, practicing the skills of effective communication across the curriculum.

Institutional Learning Outcome Four: Recognize ethical dilemmas and determine how best to respond to them.

Institutional Learning Outcome Five: Apply knowledge and talents to identify and address real world problems in the local or global community.

Acknowledgement: The development of learning outcomes and foci were adapted from the Liberal Education and America's Promise (LEAP) by Association of American Colleges and Universities (AAC&U).